15. Summary

This report gives an analysis of the information gathered in the field and from archival research. Specific characterists of the buildings found in the survey area are listed in Tables 1-5 in the text. These tables include:

Table 1: Contributing, Non-Contributing, And Individually Eligible Buildings. This table presents the number of buildings meeting each National Register status for buildings found within the survey area.

Table 2: Building Classification By Historic Use. This table gives the number of buildings by type of historical use for the survey area.

Table 3: Building Classification by Current Use. This table gives the number of buildings by type of current use for the survey area.

Table 4: Building Classification by Style. This table gives the number of buildings by style classification for the survey area.

Table 5: Approximate Dates of Construction by Age Groups. This table gives the number of buildings in specific age groups for the survey area.

There were 453 buildings, 1 park, and 3 monuments identified in this intensive level survey area. There was one district found in the survey area that was eligible for listing in the National Register; the Owen Park Historic District. There were 450 buildings, 1 park, and 3 monuments identified inside the Owen Park Historic District boundaries, including those determined to be individually eligible for the National Register. The buildings that contributed to the district numbered 321. Non-contributing buildings numbered 129. The percentage of contributing buildings to total buildings in the district was 71.3%.

INTRODUCTION

In accordance with the Oklahoma State Historic Preservation Office Comprehensive Historic Context Development, an "Intensive Level Historic/Architectural Survey of Owen Park Neighborhood" was conducted by the City of Tulsa. The project was carried out under the Certified Local Government Program, designed to promote a partnership between the State Historic Preservation Office and local government. This project recorded and photographed all individual properties in the survey area at a minimum level of documentation, regardless of the their age. Minimum recording included completion of the Historic Preservation Resource Identification Form and two (2) elevation photographs of the property. The project was designed to provide a cost-effective approach for increasing the number of properties inventoried within the State of Oklahoma and to enable the City of Tulsa to make better decisions concerning actions which affect historic resources. The results of this survey also provide documentation sufficient for preparation of a National Register of Historic Places Registration Form for the district identified in the survey.

RESEARCH DESIGN

An area chosen by the City of Tulsa in conjunction with the Tulsa Preservation Commission and the State Historic Preservation Office was surveyed at an intensive level. The area had been previously identified in Tulsa's 1980 and 1992 Historic Preservation Plans as eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The survey area is specifically identified in the Map labeled Attachment A to this report.

Several houses in the survey area were built before the area was first platted in 1910. The first house built in the survey area was constructed by J.P. Goumaz near what would later become Brady Street and Santa Fe Avenue in approximately 1892, but it no longer exists. The period of significance for the area begins on that date and concludes in 1945, the last year any given property in the district may currently qualify for inclusion in the National Register under the 50 year age requirement. There were no buildings found in the survey area that warranted special exception to the 50 year age requirement.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the project were as follows:

1. To identify, record, photograph, evaluate and substantiate through intensive level survey those individual properties and potential district(s) in the survey area that meet the eligibility criteria for listing in the National Register of Historic Places.

2. To identify those portions of the survey area that do not warrant further study because of failure to meet age and/or physical integrity requirements.

3. To identify and annotate reference materials available for completing a National Register nomination(s) for properties and district(s) located within the survey area.

AREA SURVEYED

The area surveyed, which is identified on the map labeled Attachment A, encompasses approximately 68 city blocks located slightly northwest of downtown Tulsa, Oklahoma. The survey area includes several additions. The first additions in the survey area were Irving Place and Park Hill, each platted in 1910. Additions that followed include Observation Heights in 1916, New Irving Place in 1917, New Hollywood Addition in 1923, and New Irving Place 2nd in 1923. By the late 1920s, residential development in the survey was nearly complete.

The survey boundary is more particularly described as: beginning at the northeast corner of Block 4 Monticello Addition; thence east along the south right-of-way line of Edison Street to the intersection of Edison Street and the west right-of-way line of U.S. Highway 75; thence southerly along the east line of Observation Heights Addition to the most southerly point of said addition; thence westerly along the north right-of-way line of U.S. Highway 412 to the point of intersection of the west line of Lot 3, Block 3, New Irving Place Addition and the north right-of-way line of U.S. Highway 412; thence north along the west line of Lots 1, 2, 3, Block 3, New Irving Place Addition and Lots 1 thru

8, inclusive, Block 1, new Irving Place 2nd Addition to a point on the south right-of-way line of Easton Street, said point also being the northwest corner of Lot 1, Block 1, of said New Irving Place 2nd Addition; thence northeasterly to the southeast corner of Lot 13, Block 4, of said Monticello Addition; thence northerly along the east line of said Block 4, Monticello Addition to the point of beginning.

METHODOLOGY

All buildings and structures within the survey area were surveyed at an intensive level. The survey was conducted in accordance with the Secretary of the Interior's "Standards and Guidelines for Archeology and Historic Preservation." In addition, the survey and accompanying report were compiled in accordance with the Architectural/Historic Resource Survey guidelines established by the Oklahoma State Historic Preservation Office and related guidelines set by the City of Tulsa's Certified Local Government staff.

As part of the survey effort, all buildings were visited for the purpose of collecting information and assessment of their architectural integrity. The information collected was recorded on survey forms designed in accordance with the standard Historic Preservation Resource Identification form found in the State Historic Preservation Office Guide entitled "Architectural/ Historic Resource Survey: A Field Guide." These forms were computer generated from the survey data base stored in a D-base III+ format. A copy of the survey form can be found in Attachment B to this report. The dates of construction for the buildings in the survey area were confirmed by the use of Sanborn Maps, Polk Directories, and Tulsa County land records. Supplemental information was also collected for many of the potentially eligible buildings from local newspapers and other sources.

RESULTS

There were 453 buildings, 1 park, and 3 monuments surveyed. The survey revealed one historic district associated with Owen Park. This historic district is cohesive and stands alone as a distinct residential area within the City of Tulsa. The district includes each of the residential additions identified earlier in this report as part of the survey area (Irving Place, Park Hill, New Irving Place, Hollywood, New Irving Place II, and Observation Heights), with the exception of the New Irving Place 2nd addition.

The Owen Park Historic District is characterized by hilly terrain, shady streets, and single-family residences. Many of the residences are built on the side of slopes. Sidewalks are common throughout the area. The district includes two of the few remaining boulevarded streets in the city, Easton Street and Union Avenue. A focal point of the district is the Washington Irving Monument located at the intersection of Easton Street and Vancouver Avenue. Erected in 1915, the monument commemorates Washington Irving's travel through what would later become the City of Tulsa. This site marks the physical center of the residential district and is also the highest point in the district. Many of the largest residences in the district are located near this monument.

Residences decrease in size toward the perimeter of the district.

There are 450 buildings, 1 park, and 3 monuments located within this district. Three buildings on the western edge of the survey area were excluded from the district. Their exclusion will be discussed further in the section of this report entitled "Areas examined that do not meet the eligibility criteria". Table 1 presents the number of buildings by contributing status found both inside and outside the district. Within Table 1, the word "Owen Park" refers to the Owen Park Historic district, while the word "outside" refers to those properties surveyed which were found to be outside the Owen Park Historic District boundaries. The survey found that 71.3% of the buildings within the Owen Park Historic District (including those determined to be individually eligible for the National Register) contribute to the district. Most of the noncontributing buildings in the district are due to significant alterations to their original appearance. There are also a few buildings built after 1945. There were no individually eligible buildings outside the district boundaries.

KINDS OF HISTORIC PROPERTIES PRESENT IN SURVEY AREA

The Owen Park area is a significant example of a residential neighborhood developed primarily between 1916 and 1930 during Tulsa's early oil boom years. Tables 1 and 2 present analysis of the types of historic and current uses of buildings found in the survey area. The most significant numbers are found in the single family dwelling category. A few commercial structures were also found in the survey area, but most of them have been converted to residential use. There were two churches and two public schools found in the survey area. The area can be described as a strong middle class neighborhood with few vacancies.

A central characteristic of the survey area was that it consisted mainly of residential buildings constructed in the Craftsman/Bungalow Style. This style typically had front facing porches with brick or stone piers and wood columns. Many styles from the first quarter of the century are also well represented including Colonial Revival, Tudor Revival, Prairie School, Commercial, Modern Movement, and National Folk. Most of the residences were wood, with a smaller percentage of stucco and brick dwellings. Table 4 presents the different building style classifications found in the survey area.

Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps were available for the survey area as early as 1915. Many of the footprints for buildings in the survey area appeared to match the buildings on the maps. Since the maps covered a wide span of time, the Polk directories and the Tulsa Land Records were helpful for obtaining approximate dates of construction. The older houses in the neighborhood were located in an area bounded by Edison Street on the north, Quanah Avenue on the east, Cameron Street on the south, and Vancouver Avenue on the west. Table 5 presents an analysis of buildings in the survey area by age.

SPECIFIC PROPERTIES IDENTIFIED AND TECHNIQUES OF INFORMATION COLLECTION

Information on the following buildings was gathered through the use of several sources. Primary sources included the Tulsa Polk Directories, Sanborn Fire Insurance maps, and Tulsa County Land Records. Information was also obtained from sources available at the Tulsa Urban Development Department. A few of the buildings had stone insets with inscriptions and dates. Some of the names for the buildings were on the Sanborn Maps. The type of use for the building was usually printed on the Sanborn Maps, and also indicated in the Tulsa Polk Directories.

Most of the properties identified within the survey area were associated with the development of Owen Park. The Tulsa County Land Record System has records of plats and deeds on file for the ownership of land in this area. There were also a few buildings that were built as later infill inside the survey area. These buildings were either built after the demolition of an older house, or the buildings were placed on new lots created by the further subdivision of large estate holdings. The few buildings in the survey area that are outside the district boundaries did not warrant any further study. However, since these properties are adjacent to the district, their removal and redevelopment may affect the integrity of the district depending on the scale and size of future projects considered. All properties appear in the following list in address order with their description of significance.

INDIVIDUAL PROPERTIES AND HISTORIC DISTRICTS THAT MEET THE NATIONAL REGISTER CRITERIA FOR ELIGIBILITY

One district was identified as a result of this survey, the Owen Park Historic District. The district is named after Owen Park which is located in the northeast corner of the neighborhood. The Owen Park Historic District is identified on the map labeled Attachment C.

The edges of the Owen Park Historic District are well-defined. Its northern boundary is Edison Avenue, a four-lane arterial street emanating from downtown Tulsa. Edison Avenue separates Owen Park from the Tulsa Country Club Historic District and the Tulsa Country Club and Golf Course which lie to the north. This avenue is also the original boundary line between the Osage and Creek Indian Nations and now serves as the boundary between Osage and Creek Counties. The district's eastern boundary is defined by U.S. Highway 75 and its southern boundary is defined by the U.S. Highway 412. Acquisition of the right-of-way for this expressway caused the clearance of approximately nine city blocks which were originally part of the Owen Park neighborhood. The Missouri, Kansas, and Texas Railway formed the district's original southern boundary. The district's western boundary is partially formed by Zenith Avenue which runs north along the eastern edge of New Irving Place addition to Easton Street; thence east along the south right-of-way line of Easton Street for approximately 211 feet; thence north along the west line of Blocks 4, 5, and 12 of Irving Place Addition to the south right-of-way of Edison Street.

The individually eligible resources in the Owen Park Historic District are as follows:

232 N. Santa Fe Avenue

This Colonial Revival style house was built in 1930. This two and one-half story building is made of brick, has a cross gable roof, and has a partial front porch with 2 brick columns. The building is individually eligible as an excellent example of Colonial Revival style.

302 N. Santa Fe Avenue

This Bungalow/Craftsman style house was built in 1928. This one story building has its original wood lapboard and hung windows. It has a cross gable roof and a partial front and side porch with three tapered columns. The building is individually eligible as an excellent example of Bungalow/Craftsman style.

503 N. Santa Fe Avenue

This Prairie School style house was built in 1920. This two story building has its original hung windows and a hipped roof. It has a partial front porch with two tapered columns. It has a rear open porch above the first floor sleeping room. The building is individually eligible as an excellent example of Prairie School style.

230 N. Yukon Avenue

This Colonial Revival style house was built in 1920. This three story brick house has exposed rafter ends and an arched entry way. It has a cross gable roof. The building is individually eligible as an excellent example of Colonial Revival style.

OWEN PARK HISTORIC DISTRICT

AREAS EXAMINED THAT DO NOT MEET THE ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA AND THE JUSTIFICATION

The western end of the survey area includes: (1) the New Irving Place 2nd Addition which consists of vacant land only; and (2) an unplatted area lying between the New Irving Place Addition to its east (which is included in the Owen Park Historic District) and the Monticello Addition to its west (which was platted in 1945 and lies outside of the district because of its age). The survey identified three buildings within this unplatted area which do not contribute to the Owen Park Historic District because they lack physical integrity and/or fail to meet the 50 year age requirement. Both the vacant New Irving Place 2nd Addition land and the unplatted land containing the three noncontributing buildings do not meet the eligibility requirement for inclusion within the Owen Park Historic District.

IDENTIFICATION OF PROPERTIES AND POTENTIAL DISTRICTS THAT REQUIRE ADDITIONAL RESEARCH TO ASSESS NATIONAL REGISTER ELIGIBILITY

There were no buildings or districts that are recommended for further study to assess their potential for National Register Eligibility.

HISTORIC CONTEXT

The history of the Owen Park neighborhood can be traced back to early territorial days. In preparation for the arrival of the Five Civilized Tribes in the Indian Territory, the United States Government made a treaty with the Osage Indians in 1825 in which lands were conceded for the use of the Cherokee and Creek Tribes. Through the Osages were to vacate their land in Oklahoma, they were still present in 1832 when U.S. Rangers arrived with civilian observers. Among them was Washington Irving, perhaps the best known American author of the time. On October 14, 1832 the party was on route to their camp destination at the convergence of the Cimarron and Arkansas Rivers. Pausing briefly at a lookout point, Irving enjoyed the panorama from a hilltop in what would later be known as the Owen Park neighborhood. A description of the view can be found in his book "Tour of the Prairies." A monument to this event was dedicated on April 30, 1915 at the corner of Easton Boulevard and Vancouver Avenue. It was erected and donated to the public by Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Norman Wright.

By 1834, the Osage Tribe was convinced to move to a reservation in Kansas. Following this movement, it has been suggested that Owen Park was the location of a Creek settlement called Big Springs Town. After the Civil War, the Osages were relocated back to the land which is now Osage County. The point where the three great nations of the Osage, Cherokee and Creek joined is commemorated by a limestone and bronze monument located at the corner of West Edison Street and Maybelle Avenue in Owen Park. The memorial is located approximately 682 feet west of the common boundary point of the territories of the Osage, Cherokee, and Creek tribes. The memorial was erected by the Tulsa Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in 1935. The monument was designed by J. Leland Benson of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and executed by the Empire Chandelier Company of Sand Springs, Oklahoma, and the Consolidated Stone Company of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

An account of the historical significance of the Owen Park Neighborhood would not be complete without discussion of the man for which it is named. Chauncey A. Owen, a Pennsylvanian entrepreneur and Civil War veteran, had conducted a freighting business in Kansas before coming to the Indian Territory and marrying a Creek woman. During the 1870's, Owen established himself as a leading rancher and farmer about twenty miles southeast of Tulsa in the Broken Arrow area. Using imported white labor, he planted peach trees, cultivated large areas of fertile land, owned herds of cattle and harvested walnut timber on the Verdigris River. He built a ranch home known throughout the region as the "Big House."

In 1882, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad (the Frisco) was being built from Vinita across the Verdigris River to the Arkansas River. Owen took a contract to supply beef to the graders working on that section of the railroad. Before the grading to the Arkansas River was completed Owen opened a boarding house in a tent on the north side of the Arkansas River just above the Frisco bridge at Tulsa. A short time thereafter, when the town was located on its present site, he moved his boarding tent to the north side of the Frisco track on what is now Main Street and began the erection of the first hotel in Tulsa. Appropriately named the Tulsa Hotel, it began business in the winter of 1882. The six-room wood frame building was also Tulsa's first two-story building. The hotel was managed by Owen until 1890 when it was leased and renamed the St. Elmo.

OWEN PARK HISTORIC DISTRICT

In approximately 1892, Chauncey Owen leased 80 acres of his wife's Creek Indian land to J.P Goumaz, who built the first home in the neighborhood (no longer present) at the northwest corner of what would later become Brady Street and Santa Fe Avenue. In approximately 1895, the Goumaz family planted 7,000 peach trees, an apple orchard, strawberry fields and established a large concord grape vineyard from the top of the hill east to Quanah Avenue. Some remnants of the vineyard are still evident on alley fences.

Chauncey Owen's wife, Martha, died in 1902. Her heirs received an allotment from the Creek Nation of 160 acres which encompassed the present Owen Park neighborhood.

Vacant land on what is now the east edge of the Owen Park neighborhood was often used for public events in the early 1900's, before it officially became a city park. Fourth of July celebrations took place there, with firework displays entertaining crowds who sometimes numbered in the thousands. But one explosion on Saturday, January 23, 1904, was unplanned. The Western Torpedo Company of Chanute, Kansas, had about 875 quarts of nitroglycerine stored in a magazine structure built for the purpose in a little ravine. Used for shooting oil wells, this highly explosive substance was so unstable that local railroads refused to handle it. The torpedo company had it hauled by wagon from Kansas. An unfortunate worker by the name of McDonald, apparently a substitute for a regular worker, was last seen about 4:00 p.m. going into the magazine with a load of material from his wagon. Fifteen minutes later a tremendous detonation shook the country side. The terrible blast broke the door locks at a country estate a quarter mile north. It stunned workers at the Tulsa Vitrified Brick Plant 800 yards away and shattered glass in the business district one mile east. The boom was reportedly heard as far away as Claremore, Oklahoma. When the dust settled, the previous location of the magazine was a great crater and very little could be found of Mr. McDonald. His legacy is that he perhaps helped prepare the site for the future Owen Park Lake.

Following the discovery of oil in the summer of 1901 at nearby Red Fork, Tulsa began to grow rapidly and prosper. Owen had gained control of his wife's land and wanted to divide and sell it, but there was initially scant public interest in his land. Believing he could capitalize on the growing recreational movement in the country, he offered approximately twenty-five acres of land to the City of Tulsa for a park in 1908 for a reported $480 an acre. Mayor Mitchell appointed William Lynch, W.I. Stewart, J.E. Piersol, and E.T. Tucker to the city's first Park Commission in 1909. They held their first Park Commission meeting in March of 1909. John Meisenbacher, who later lived in the Owen Park Neighborhood, was appointed Tulsa's first Park Superintendent. By August 18, 1909, the Park Commission decided to purchase Owen's proposed park land for $13,500.00. Their decision met with criticism regarding the land's price and distance from the downtown. In those days, many considered it to be too far out in the country. Most people were placated, however, when it was announced that a streetcar line would be run to the park.

In 1905 eighteen Tulsa businessmen had organized the Tulsa Street Railway Company (TSR) to build the city's first rail line. In 1909, however, a charter was granted by the City of Tulsa to a rival company called the Oklahoma Union Traction Company (OUT) which had petitioned the city for a franchise covering streets not used by TSR. OUT especially wanted to build a streetcar line linking Owen Park with Orcutt Lake which was located at what is now 18th Street and St. Louis

Avenue, the present Swan Lake. With approval for the line secured from the City of Tulsa and construction crews at work on the OUT line, TSR reacted. Although OUT completed the part of its line to Orcutt Lake and had begun service on December 22, 1909, the Tulsa Street Railway Company completed its own street-car line to Owen Park in 1910. TSR's Owen Park line ran west on Third Street, turning north on Elwood, then west on 1st Street, then north again on Lawton Avenue, then west again on Archer Street, and then north on Rosedale Avenue to Easton Boulevard. A feud then erupted between the Tulsa Street Railway Company and the Oklahoma Union Traction Company. OUT also wanted to use West Third Street for its Owen Park Line. The battle turned to the city council which on March 22, 1910, awarded the West Third Street franchise to TSR. Oklahoma Union appealed to the courts, but lost. The feud only got hotter. OUT announced it was going to build an interurban all the way to Sapulpa, Oklahoma, 16 miles to the south of Tulsa, and a $300,000 construction contract for this line was awarded in November of 1910. There followed months of delicate negotiations with TSR. In February 1911, TSR finally agreed to let OUT cross its tracks twice to reach Sapulpa and also build its branch to Owen Park. The OUT line to Owen Park ran north on Nogales Avenue to the southeast side of the park.

Owen Park, Tulsa's first city park, officially opened on June 8, 1910. In 1910, the City of Tulsa sold five acres of the Owen Park land to the nearby Tulsa Vitrified Brick Company, located at the southeast edge of the park. Owen attempted to prohibit the sale, contending that the brick company would excavate large quantities of earth making a dangerous hole which would accumulate water and produce sickness. Owen lost an appeal to the State Supreme Court which held that the deed to the City did not specify that the land had to be used solely for park purposes. Owen's concern proved to be prophetic, however, when a young lad drowned in the abandoned brick pit in 1954. The City soon thereafter repurchased the land from the brick company and filled in the pit. The reclaimed property was again added to the park.

In 1913, the ravine in Owen Park was dammed to create a small lake, which was used as the City's first swimming pool, although swimming hole was probably a more appropriate name. Swimming in the lake was very popular from 1913 through the early twenties. Not only was there a sand beach but life-guards were hired and a bath house was erected to accommodate the bathers. In spite of annual efforts each spring to line the pond with sand hauled by wagons from Sand Springs, it was never long before rains and usage negated those attempts. However, the muddy bottom did not detract from its popularity. A major problem occurred, however, when bathers, jumping from the twelve-foot tower located at the lake, sometimes missed the diving hole. Lifeguards would then be called upon to rescue the victims stuck in the mud. During the winter, the lake served as a skating rink. Today, bathing and skating are prohibited, but fishing is a popular pastime and the lake is home to a thriving population of ducks and geese. In the summer of 1963, a new $88,000 recreation center was dedicated as the first major facility of a $3.8 million park bond issue. This Owen Park Recreation Center, located at 560 N. Maybelle Avenue gave the Owen Park Neighborhood the first state-of-the-art recreation center in the City of Tulsa.

Throughout the years, Owen Park has become the home for interesting historical artifacts. Besides the monument marking the boundary corner of the Creek, Osage and Cherokee Nations, Owen Park contains the Tulsa Association of

Pioneers Monument and Tulsa's Oldest House still in existence.

The Tulsa Association of Pioneers Monument is an imposing stone monument that now stands at the corner of Edison Street and Maybelle Avenue. It was erected in 1935 by the Tulsa Association of Pioneers on the farm of Dr. Sam G. Kennedy located northwest of the City of Tulsa. Tulsa pioneers had met on his farm on September 21, 1921, at a barbecue given by Dr. Sam G. Kennedy and Dr. Jim Kennedy. As part of this gathering they had organized the Tulsa Association of Pioneers. Dr. Sam G. Kennedy was its first president. The Tulsa Pioneer Monument honors the many pioneers living in Tulsa, Indian Territory and vicinity for the thirty years from 1881 to 1921 and other pioneer families. It bears the names of scores of pioneer families. The monument was moved to its Owen Park location in 1950.

Tulsa's oldest house still in existence is also located in Owen Park at the intersection of Edison Street and Maybelle Avenue. Originally located on the 400 block of North Cheyenne, this parsonage home of Reverend Sylvester Morris was moved to Owen Park in 1976. Reverend Morris was a Methodist minister who is thought to have been killed by lawmen who had mistaken him for a whiskey peddler.

1915 was a year of rapid development for the neighborhood. the Easton Street Boulevard had been paved and the Irving monument was dedicated on April 30th. An advertisement in the Tulsa World on July 4, 1915, announced that "Lots are going fast in Tulsa's most beautiful residence suburbs--Irving Place and Park Hill." The oil boom that had made many wealthy also provided abundant jobs for a burgeoning middle class and many of them were moving to the Owen Park Neighborhood. New homes were high in demand and residential construction progressed rapidly. By the end of the 1920's, most lots were filled with homes ranging from craftsman bungalows to estate mansions.

In November of 1908 the continuing growth of Tulsa had necessitated the voting of a bond issue of $125,000 to build more public schools in Tulsa. This resulted in the building of the Owen Addition School at 18 North Maybelle Avenue in 1909. Its name was later changed to Irving School. Schools built later in the Owen Park Neighborhood include the Pershing school which was constructed in 1918 on Easton Street, and the Theodore Roosevelt Jr. High School which was built in 1926 on eight acres of land adjoining Owen Park on the south.

Chronological limits of the Study Area

The chronological limits of the Owen Park study area are from 1892 through 1945. The beginning date reflects the approximate year the first residence was built in the district. The cut-off date of 1945 reflects the last year of eligibility according to the 50 year exclusion rule for eligible properties.

Appropriate Historical Themes Expressed in the Survey Area

Residential Development

Residential development is the primary historic theme for the Owen Park Historic District. The district is a good example of housing constructed for middle class residents in Tulsa primarily from 1916 until 1930. The area was one of a number of early suburban areas in Tulsa. Some of the buildings in Owen Park are exceptional examples of housing styles in this time era.

Urban Development

The establishment of Owen Park as the City of Tulsa's first city park and the development of its residential neighborhood with fine tree lined sidewalks and boulevarded streets mark Urban Development as an important theme for the Owen Park Historic District.

Native Americans

The Native Americans historic theme plays an important part in a district which began as Indian Territory. The early Osage Indian tribal boundary marks the northern boundary of the district. The Land that Chauncey Owen sold to the City of Tulsa for its first city park came from his Creek Indian wife's allotment from the Dawes Commission.

Transportation

Transportation is an important historic theme tied to the development of the Owen Park Historic District. It is significant in the way Owen Park was perceived as a important destination for competing trolley car companies and for the positive effects this early transportation mode had on development of the district.

SUMMARY

This report identified one district eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The district is known as the Owen Park Historic District. The ratio of contributing resources to the district is 71.3%, and the total resources in the district number 453. The historical context for the neighborhood begins at 1892 with the building of the first house in the neighborhood. The most significant years of growth were from 1916 to 1930, during the period Tulsa experienced a housing boom due to oil related activity. The period of significance for the neighborhood ends at 1945, the present 50-year cut-off date for inclusion to the National Register of Historic Places. The district is made up predominately of single-family dwellings of the Bungalow/Craftsman style.
